57. Inspired by nature, Yorkshire artist SUE TOFT, combines colour, light and passion to create multi-layered, richly textured, expressive artworks. Painting mainly in acrylics and oil, this versatile artist is known for her dramatic skies, atmospheric land and seascapes and sensitively portrayed animals. Her commissioned paintings always delight her clients and surpass their expectations. See more at www.suetoftartist.co.uk or follow @suetoftartist on Instagram.

58. AMBER TATTERSALL's expressionistic paintings merge reality with an abstract point of view. Much of Amber's work is unplanned, a dance of colours and emotions that flow from her brush almost blindly. "I've learned that I need to relinquish control" she explains. "I am capturing a memory, a moment in time, and painting subconsciously, without thought is how my art comes alive". Prices start at $65 Canadian for smaller works on paper. Visit www.ambertattersall.art and follow @amber.tart on Instagram.

59. JACINTHE RIVARD is a Canadian artist who calls her style "Nostalgic realism". Her oil paintings bring a pop of colour to any room. She is represented internationally by many galleries. They can be found on her website www.jacinthrivard.com or follow @jacinthrivard on Instagram.

61. SAARA NURMI is Finnish artist. She is inspired by organic forms and often uses them as they are; branches, leaves, scratches composed to the copper plate while staying in a junkyard. Her main purpose is to give esthetical pleasure through her works. Deeper down there are a lot of meanings in the specific materials and working methods which increases the narrative of her pieces. The immaterial conceptualism in Saara Nurmi's works couldn't be there without the material form. Pictured is 'Joutomaa - Wasteland', 2021, solarfast and intaglio print on paper, 2'4". Visit www.saaranurmi.com and follow @saaranurmi on Instagram.

62. MONA MYREN is a fluid artist from Norway. Inspired by vivid colours and how the different colours play together on the canvas. Mona is a strong believer that colours influence and express the unspoken. Her paintings are mona and she believes this will create a freedom for our senses. Visit her gallery, @fluidartnorge on Instagram and contact her for commissioned artwork at flytendekunst@gmail.com

63. RACHEL VARDEN is a contemporary abstract artist living on the West coast of Ireland. She has an honours degree in Fine Art Painting from the Centre of Creative Arts & Media, Galway, Ireland. Rachel's paintings and illustrations depict her love of colour, symbolism, composition and pattern. She creates worlds that reflect her deep interest in the human psyche, primitive art and colour. Pictured is 'PayBack Monkey', an original painting. Visit www.rachelvarden.com or follow @ray.varden on Instagram.

64. NAOMI SINGLETON HANNA is a Belfast-based oil paint artist. Her work encompasses an eclectic mix of both classic and contemporary subjects, with an overarching focus on colour and beauty. Naomi's philosophy for painting is simple: 'to create beautiful pieces that people enjoy looking at on their walls'. Visit www.naomisingletonhanna.art or follow @naomisingletonhanna on Instagram.

65. ELIZABETH COOKE is a British sculptor. The natural world is her inspiration. Her style of work is often described as "drawing with steel". Elizabeth extracts the essence of her subject, removing padding and getting straight to the heart.
