January 9, 2020, Los Angeles, Calif.–stARTup Art Fair is pleased to present its fifth annual Los Angeles edition to take place February 14 – February 16, 2020 at Pacifica Hotels’ The Kinney Venice Beach hotel in Los Angeles.

Programming

In addition to the committee-selected artists presenting their work this year, stARTup Art Fair Los Angeles will present curated rooms from six beloved Los Angeles and regional art non-profit partners including The Lancaster Museum of Art and History, Launch LA the Los Angeles Art Association, The Los Angeles Center of Photography, Art Share LA and Venice Arts.

stARTup will also present an onsite installation and panel discussion program curated by Swedish-born, American-based curator Josefin Lundhal who remarks, “I wanted our programming to offer each visitor an opportunity to not only connect with our fantastic artists in the hotel rooms, but also in the spaces between.” On opening night Elizabeth Yochim, a multimedia performance artist, dancer, filmmaker and art historian, will launch the fair with her performance Angelbird, story of a woman who transforms into a bird. The narrative of Angelbird will unfold all over different parts of the fair and throughout the evening. In the entrance and throughout the public spaces of the fair, Patricia Rubio will be showing a collection of brand new sculptures titled BLURPS. Both suspended shapes and freestanding totems, these sculptures bring her signature abstracted shapes to life, and reference language via the 21st-century word “blurb” meaning a quick, dashed off summary. In conversation, stARTup will host artist Miles Regis. The Trinidad-born artists invite listeners to his subject matters which fluctuates from human emotion to stories of freedom, love, loss, activism and survival.
